Yellow Fever.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 17.—The mortality yesterday was greater than was anticipated—111 deaths being reported, 36 of which were colored. Sunday there were 98 deaths, instead of 90, as reported.

VICKSBURG, Sept. 17.—There were 92 deaths yesterday. Warm weather; thermometer, 92°.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17.—From noon to 6 P. M. yesterday 24 deaths and 134 new cases were reported.

Canton reports new cases yesterday, 20; deaths, 1. Total cases to date 404; deaths, 56.

A petition is being circulated at Philadelphia, which prays President Hayes to set apart a day for national fasting and prayer.

New Orleans has already notified the country that she has sufficient funds to carry her through to the frost and now her Grand Master of Masons reiterates the statement and asks that nothing more be sent.

Vicksburg, also, returns her heartfelt thanks to her generous friends in the North and announces that she, too, has all the supplies she needs.

A Negro Turning White.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

A physiological phenomenon has just been discovered in this city by one of the district physicians. It is nothing less than a colored woman turning white. Luella Smith, aged thirty years, who is living at No. 60 Gano alley, is not a mulatto. She is as black as your hat—in the face, but her body is gradually beginning to turn white as any Caucasian. This changing process began about five years ago, and now her body is fully two-fifths white; on her breast there is a white spot about eight inches long and six inches wide. Her limbs, too, present the same singular appearance, and if she keeps on she will in a few years be as white as anybody. At present she is being treated for consumption. The only white spots about her face are directly behind either ear and inside the ears. The doctors call this transformation "absorption of pigment," but whatever it is, it is extraordinary, and will elicit a good deal of attention from the medical profession.

The Government and the Railroads.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—French, the government auditor of Pacific railroad accounts, has been informed that the Union Pacific railroad is making up its accounts, and that they will be speedily forwarded to Washington for inspection and approval, as required by act of Congress. The only company which has thus far neglected to take any steps toward complying with the law is the Central Pacific, and French says it will probably fall into the ranks soon. It is not thought that the companies will go to the expense of a suit in the Supreme Court to try to prove that the law compelling them to submit their accounts for audit to the government is unconstitutional.

Glanders in California.

Another human victim to glanders in California is reported. This time it was one C. G. Hanna, who died near Modesto. The disease is spreading instead of abating, and stable keepers and owners of private stock should take more than ordinary care.

THE PRE-HISTORIC GLIDER.

A Great Milpitas Inventor—A Slight Defect that may be Overcome.

(S. F. Stock Exchange.)

Another great inventor has just come to the surface. Same time ago, Mr. G—, of the San Francisco Board, while on one of his celebrated piscatorial excursions, discovered the rival of Edison in the person of a bucolic gentleman who raises chickens, hogs, pumpkins, fancy windmills, new-fangled plows and other remarkable products on a strip of land near Milpitas. Mr. G—, was struck by the numerous evidences of the granger's industry, and particularly by the fact that he has grown steadily poorer by the use of his own inventions. Such proof of an original genius was so conclusive that the warm-hearted broker extended to the struggling inventor encouragement and some faint hope of financial aid in a grand scheme on which the granger's mind was then concentrated. Secrecy being necessary to the consummation of the agriculturalist's hopes, the broker was left for several months in torturing doubt of the exact nature and importance of the invention. The other day, however, Mr. G— received an envelope bearing three superfluous postage stamps to insure its hasty delivery and addressed in a bold hand, marked by great inventive power in orthography and contempt for the ordinary rules of correspondence. Tearing it open the broker read:

AT LAST IT IS ACCOMPLISHED!
THE TRIUMPH OF SCIENCE IS COMPLETE!
Prehistoric man accomplished transportation without the use of wheels. I have long regarded whole evidences of barbarism, the Egyptians were not barbarians, then how did they carry the Great Blocks of granite to the pyramids? To the clearing of this mystery I have devoted my time and by the grace of god I have discovered it. They did it gliding. I send you per express a specimen of the prehistoric glider. yours etc

Mr. G— was naturally much impressed with the importance of this discovery, but still more so when a great express wagon drawn by two powerful horses toiled up the street and dumped on the sidewalk a ponderous paper box, four by three inches, containing the "Pre-historic Glider." Tearing open the box after it had been borne to the eighth story of the hotel, Mr G—'s delighted eyes fell on a rosewood shingle, one side of which was plentifully covered with a composition suspiciously like pulverized brick and about as smooth as a rusty barrel hoop. A painstaking ed might have glided on it after some years of practice. A few days later the inventor having crossed the ferry in an oyster boat, called on his generous patron to discuss the best means of announcing the discovery to the world and preparing the carriage-makers of Christendom for financial ruin.

"It completely revolutionizes all established ideas of transportation," said the enthusiastic inventor.

"Yes, indeed," said Mr. G—, "but it strike me you have overlooked two important things."

"Indeed," replied the astonished inventor, "what are they?"

"Why, a road-bed on which to lay the glider and a propelling power. A weighty body won't glide up hill, you know."

"By G—-h-o-o-i-phat!" gasped the great inventor, "I never thought of that."

He has temporarily abandoned mechanics, and is now engaged in bearing gas stock, by organizing a company to import candle fish which are used by the Northern Indians instead of coal oil.

The Peaceful Democracy.

WORCESTER, (Mass.), Sept. 17.—The gathering of delegates to the Democratic State Convention to-day is large. The Butler faction is meeting with strong opposition, and may confidently predict that Charles Theodore Russell will be nominated.

The State central committee is dividing cases where there are contesting delegations against the Butler men, and these proceedings are denounced by the General's friends. At about eight o'clock the Butler men having possession of the hall, placed D. E. Powers, of Springfield, in the chair, and proceeded to business.

After a long wrangle Mayor Platt took the platform and said that persons then in the hall might remain, but that no others should be admitted. A resolution thanking the Mayor for his decided ground was then unanimously passed amid great applause. David Powers, of Springfield, then took the floor and requested the delegates to nominate as Chairman, McDavitt. Butler's secretary made a motion that a committee be appointed to see that only delegates bearing credentials be admitted to the hall. Carried. The committee was appointed and retired, and before they returned a rush was made for the hall. One outsider forced the door, and was closely followed by a mob. The doors were then closed by the police. At this juncture Major McCafferty entered the hall and was received with cheers.

At New Haven, on the 16th, in a school election, Catholics and Protestants united in the re-establishment of devotional exercises in the schools and won their point.

A Whole Family Murdered in Texas.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—The following account of a most horrible murder is given in the dispatches from Houston, Texas. The wife of George Lynch, a respected citizen of Berkeley, Texas, died some weeks ago, leaving an infant. Lynch had seven other children, the oldest, Clemie, being 17. On Friday night the family retired as usual, a lamp being left burning in the main room. At midnight the father was awakened by a pistol ball striking him in the breast. He sprang up and saw a masked man standing in the middle of the room, pointing a pistol at him. The assassin fired again, the ball lodging beneath his collarbone. Lynch fell unconscious. When he recovered consciousness he found himself lying in a lane outside the premises. The assassin, thinking that Lynch was dead, seized a hatchet and put the children, who were witnesses, out of the way. He assaulted Clemie, buried the hatchet in her head, and also crushed the skulls of three other children, and then set fire to the house. The distracted father saw the building fall in on the bodies of eight children. The bodies were afterwards exhumed and an inquest held, when the hatchet wounds were discovered upon the heads of the children. It is thought Lynch will recover. A young man named Boatman, with whom Lynch had had a difficulty, is suspected of the crime.

The Discharged Fenians.

PORTLAND, Eng., Sept. 17.—Congdon and Melody, the Fenians, were discharged from Portland prison this morning, and immediately left for Southampton in charge of the deputy governor of the prison and two wardens, who will attend them until they are embarked on the steamer Mosel, which sails to-day from Southampton for New York.

An Unpleasant Question.

(Burlington Hawkeye.)

"What is your trade?" as of his audience suddenly asked Kearney. "Me thrade? Me thrade, is it?" responded the astounded "workman," and then turning appealingly to his secretary, "Browne, ye born devil ye, thwat in thunder is me thrade?"

In the Hodgdon trial at San Francisco, on the 16th, the jury returned a verdict of murder in the second degree.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Don't Forget it.

If you are troubled with nervousness, are disheartened, tired of life, fear death or feel out of sorts, as the saying is, you may safely conclude that you have the Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint. The liver is very apt to become torpid at this season of the year, as poisons arising from marshes, stagnant water are more numerous, and are, through inhalation, taken into the blood. Unless the liver is strong and active, and furnishes a supply of fresh and pure blood to drive out the impurities, the above mentioned symptoms surely follow, and if not heeded, and in more terrible diseases and death. White's Prairie Flower proves itself the great liver panacea. Its action on the liver is different from any medicine ever compounded. Its cures are truly wonderful. Try it. Price, twenty-five cents and seventy-five cents. For sale by our druggists, OSMON & SHOEMAKER. 417 end

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Before to-morrow night the Republican State convention will probably have made the gubernatorial nomination. We believe Mr. Kinkaid will be the choice of the convention. The real task which the delegates have before them is to determine which would make the stronger run before the people—Conner or Kinkaid. In point of ability and of character there is no choice between the gentlemen, but in the matter of strength there is. Kinkaid is greatly the superior. The convention need, therefore, spend little time in giving us a candidate for Governor.

The first conviction in California under the law making it a misdemeanor to sell liquor to a habitual drunkard was obtained in a Justice's court in Middleton, Lake county, last week, and the saloon-keeper, E. Ford, was sentenced to twenty-five days' imprisonment in the county jail; but the Sheriff refused to receive him owing to a defect in the commitment. The drunkard's name is Kellogg. The complaint was made, as the law requires, by his wife. Such a law must meet with the approval of every right-minded person, of course, but we hope it won't be adopted in Nevada until after election.

In Philadelphia a petition is being circulated for signatures and when it weighs a ton or so it will be sent on to President Hayes, who will be expected, in answer to it, to appoint a day for fasting and prayer, the object being the abatement of the yellow fever in the South. A day of fasting and prayer in the North would be sure to supply the Southern cities with new sewers, and empty all the cess-pools and filthy back yards. It would also give every inhabitant of the South a bath.

The corrupt an' crawlin' hellhound of the San Francisco Exchange has found a new name for the editor of the GAZETTE. "Sorrid knave" it is now. There is one comfort, however. Kearney is coming back by way of the Isthmus, and the moment he enters the Golden Gate the slimy imp of the Exchange will jump the east-bound train. Then this fiery reptile will have a chance to clutch the white plume of the fleeing bondholder and baste the dirt wad him.

It is confidently expected that when Bradley gets the Democratic nomination Cassidy, of the Eureka Sentinel, will come out enthusiastically in favor of wringing the neck of the eagle and making the Crow the national bird. The Cassidian design for the silver dollar will probably be the Crow standing on one foot on a broken pledge and holding a sack of gold twenties in the talons of the other.

During the recent grand woman's rights congress in Paris one of the most prominent delegates present remarked that clothing for the body was nothing but "an anomaly of nature" which "would disappear when they got their rights." A woman's rights convention without clothes would be an interesting, an awful, a grisly, a skeletonous, a ghastly sight.

Dinnis! Dinnis! Oh, Dinnis! Lave the Histerin' Aist an' come back imajit. The Petaluma, California, Argus says that white labor has failed to supply the demand, and all the squaws in the country are being raked up and set to hop picking. Must we allow leprous Injun faynates to take the bread out of the mouths of dacin't min?

The Rio Vista Enterprise says "Most of the irregular fishing has been done by Portuguese and Italians, and no white men have fished out of season this year." We should judge that the Portuguese and Italian vote is not very heavy in the neighborhood of Rio Vista. We should also judge the editor of the Enterprise is a white man.

Oakland has adopted the Moffat bell punch. Oakland is a virtuous town, and the home of Local Option, but we fear now there will be such a devil of a clangor from thirty morn till staggering eve that dealers in cotton ear-wads will grow rich.

The San Francisco Stock Exchange is a very liberal and tolerant journal.

It says if the people of Visalia don't agree with it that Mr. White did right in cutting Dr. Mehring's throat, "they had better move somewhere else."

It is now evident that Kearney has run the length of his halter in the East. People were curious to see what manner of man it was that had raised such a row on the Pacific coast. They have been gratified. The New York papers have slaughtered Dennis by publishing his speeches in full. That was the severest blow Kearney has yet received. The journals don't bother with him much editorially now, and what is left of the mighty agitator is being picked very clean by the paragraphers. It did not take the Eastern newspaper men long to discover that Dennis was nothing more than a phenomenally impudent and conceited blackguard, with an extremely bad temper.

Mrs. Dr. Hodgdon, the abortionist whose victim died, has been convicted of murder in the second degree. It is a pity that the verdict had not been of the first degree and the woman hanged. She and the class to which she belongs are quite as bad as Troy Dye, for they kill for money in as base a way and kill also the soul of every woman who aids them in their crime. Mrs. Dr. Hodgdon won't be hanged, however. On the contrary she will probably get a new trial, be acquitted and continue to murder as before.

The Sisters of Charity in the Southern cities, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, are distinguishing themselves during the prevalence of the plague. They are everywhere, like ministering angels, extending the soft hand of the woman to the fevered brow, tenderly nursing the sick and caring for the orphans.

The Gold Hill News every few days startles us with editorial announcements of this kind: "The Nile has not risen to its average height this season, and though there is sufficient irrigation for cotton, the Indian corn crop is doing very badly."

The Carson Tribune referring to the GAZETTE's suggestion, that R. M. Daggett be nominated for Congress, approves heartily and says: "He wears no corporation collar, and would reflect honor on Nevada in the halls of Congress."

"The sapient idiots of the give away sheet" is the extraordinary style in which the San Jose Mercury refers to the editorial staff of a contemporary.

THE GAZETTE's proposal that R. M. Daggett be nominated for Congress meets with great favor everywhere.

Shooting at Mound Valley.
[Eureka Independent of Monday.]

At a late hour Saturday night, John W. Williams was brought here from his home in Mound valley for surgical treatment, having been shot through the left thigh by a pistol in the hands of Fred Scott, at the primaries held in that precinct during the day. In consequence of an old dispute respecting a water right—the parties being neighbors—unfriendly feeling has existed for some time between them, which fact, it is thought, led to the unfortunate occurrence, but as the matter will probably receive judicial investigation, we shall indulge in no speculation. The ball, which was a large sized "whistler," passed clear through the leg, about midway between the knee and groin, causing a very severe wound, notwithstanding which the men clinched and had quite a lively tussle after the shooting. We visited Mr. Williams in his room at the Centennial lodging house to-day and found him resting quite comfortably. His attending surgeon, Dr. Lucas, inclines to the opinion that the wound will not prove serious, but says the full extent of the injury sustained can not be fully determined as yet.

The Robin Hood of the Levant.

Sir Garnet Wolseley, the new Governor of Cyprus, is being importuned by some sentimental people to release Katteridji Janni, known as the Robin Hood of the Levant, and now confined in that island. His career, as described in the London Examiner, has been a romantic one: When a young man, living in Smyrna, he fell in love with his master's daughter, and planned an elopement, but was discovered in time by the irate father, who clapped his intended son-in-law into prison. Escaping, he turned bandit, and ruled one road between Smyrna and Aleppo. Nobody would betray him. He never murdered, nor allowed his followers to do it. But, like his Sherwood prototype, he was fond of easing fat, comfortable travelers of their purses, and liberally believing the destitute with their proceeds. Hundreds of portionless girls about to be married were, it is said, dowered by this romantic brigand. If Janni robbed, he did it like a gentleman. If he wanted to appropriate a supper for himself and starving companions, he would sit patiently until his terrified hosts had first eaten theirs and then depart quietly with the intention that the latter might thenceforth travel the country without dread of interference, for "Katteridji Janni never forgot a kindness." Wounded, perhaps, of his lawless life, he voluntarily surrendered, on the understanding that his punishment would be confined to exile in Cyprus.

THE VISALIA TRAGEDY.

Mrs. White Makes a Statement—A Curious Intimacy.

VISALIA, Sept. 17.—Mrs. White yesterday had an interview with her husband, when she made a voluntary statement, which she afterwards repeated to a reporter. She says that several days preceding the tragedy she told Dr. Mehring that she needed something and he came to the house, but finding all the children there, said he had better postpone the examination till she could come to the office. On the day of the murder she went to his office, and, not finding him in, started to return, when she met him and they walked down the street together. "He told me," she said, "that he would come in the evening. I told him Mr. Cullom was stopping at my place, and perhaps he would think it a little strange for him to come. Dr. Mehring said that made no difference; he would be in his own room and would know nothing about it, and if he did he would not think anything. I told him I was afraid, but he insisted on coming. I said 'very well,' and went along. There was not any time set for him to come in the evening. As he did not come I went to bed. Presently I saw him on the porch. I got out of my bed and met him at the door. He put his arms around my neck and kissed me. I told him that was not right, and told him to stop. He asked me several questions—if my husband had come back, and if Mr. Cullom was at home, and had gone to bed. I told him that he had, also that my husband had not come home. He said no, we did not need any light; there was enough light. The window curtain was up, and the moon was shining. He told me to lie down on the bed and he would make an examination. I did not lie down on the bed but insisted on getting a light. Just as he let me loose out of his arms my husband came in. My husband says he saw me in his arms. Her relation of what follows does not differ materially from her husband's. She concludes: "I wish to state positively that no criminal intimacy ever took place between us, although he many times urged me in different ways. I liked him; I liked his company. He would come down sometimes and say he had a leisure hour, and he would rather spend it with me than with any one else. I know I did wrong in allowing him to come. That is all I have to say."

The Freaks of Fortune.

[Austin Revelle.]

Ten years ago George F. Mills was a house carpenter in Austin. He went to White Pine in the rush when the town of Hamilton became a city and achieved the distinction of becoming a policeman. He and a man named Dimock got a contract to build the court-house, with an allowance of a whole lot of extras; then, in 1870, George was elected to the State Senate from White Pine county. In the campaign of '74 he was a silent worker in Sharon's interest for the United States Senate. He got his dab of Ophir, the same as other Sharon workers and legislators, but he "unloaded" his stock on the "old man" before it went to the promised thousands of dollars a share, and thus laid the foundation of a fortune. Then he went into stocks and became a California street statue. It is now reported that Mills has cleaned up a big fortune on the stock raise and contemplates a trip to Europe for his health. Soon we will receive the French papers, containing a notice of the presence in Paris of Hon. George F. Mills, an American Senator. So it goes—now the top's at the bottom, and then the bottom's on top. If Mills had stayed in Austin he would have been a house carpenter yet, and would have thought he had struck a big thing when the cloudburst came and knocked down all the awnings and ripped up all the sidewalks and made work for carpenters.

A Nice Cross Agent.

[Eureka Leader.]

The Enterprise complains because it was deceived by a lying dispatch from Eureka in reference to the outcome of the Democratic primaries. We have distinctly stated on several occasions that Cassidy was the press agent at this point, and that he makes a point of using the same to further his interests. He boasts that he utilizes the wires to advertise his paper, and there has not been an important dispatch sent from Eureka that was not biased to suit his private ends. This fact is notorious here, and the public laugh at the idea that any reliance can be placed on the false dispatches emanating from that source.

An Honest Suicide.

[Truckee Republican.]

Thomas Rhan committed suicide at Bay City by jumping off the wharf into Lake Tahoe. He had been working at Katz's logging camp near Boca until recently. He left Truckee last Monday, after having sold his time, and paid his debts. Parties came down from Bay City to have an inquest held, but no one here has jurisdiction. The Coroner of Placer county has been telegraphed.

A Mile of Trucks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Tribune says, "The line of trucks loaded with freight for the steamer City of Austin yesterday, at one time was more than a mile in length. Because of the rigid quarantine no steamer had sailed for New Orleans or Galveston for a week, and Texas and Louisiana freight had become blocked."

CROW CASSIDY.

The Fix 'He is in—Democratic War on the Base Range.

[Eureka Leader, Monday.]
The Democracy of the Base Range were in council last night. There are serious schisms in the ranks, and the breach must be headed or the chances for even a partial triumph will be slight indeed. The chasm between the opposing elements is very wide, and the session was a stormy one. A platform is to be adopted to-morrow, and there is necessity of incorporating a bullion tax plank in it. The people will not stand any foolishness in this respect, and the leaders recognize the necessity. But to proclaim adherence to the law as it now stands is to condemn the Democratic Senator's course in the last Legislature, and repudiate his heresies. This would be a pleasurable task to the chivs, but the champion crow eater objects. He has swallowed Bradley, third term and all, albeit his organ shows violent symptoms of retching, and the feast has made him sick to the stomach; but to denounce his senatorial career, and pull him down from his proud prominence as the leader of the Bourbons in Eastern Nevada, is a bitter pill indeed. He had counted on utter silence in the convention, but the ringing resolution adopted by the Republican convention forbids that, and there is but one course for the Democracy to take. Beside, with Bradley as the standard bearer, they dare not array the untariffed against his pet dogma; there would be no capital left to run the ticket on. The triumphant chivs are disposed to press the defeated chiefs to the wall, and insist that the untariffed must put themselves square upon the record as opposing any modification or repeal of the tax; and they openly assert that "kicking the stuffing out of platforms" will receive just and utter condemnation at their hands. The doctory George is the under dog in the fight, and will have to add the unpalatable resolution to his already bounteous crow repast.

Murdering a Witness.

[Truckee Republican.]

A Chinaman named Lee Limb was killed in Chinatown Sunday night last about 9 o'clock. He was shot in the back and wrist, and his thigh was slashed open with a knife. He had a revolver and two Chinese knives of murderous pattern on his person, but was assassinated before he could defend himself. He was the principal witness against Sing Limb, the murderer now in jail at Nevada. Sing Limb shot a Chinaman, as he said, "just for fun," and this last murder looks as if his friends were killing men in earnest.

A State Convict Commits Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Phillip Dick, a convict at San Quentin, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself in his cell. He was sentenced from San Joaquin county in 1865 for thirty years, for the murder of Alexander Simpson. He was tried three times and sentenced to be hanged, but his sentence was commuted by the Governor.

An Iowa Murder.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Sept. 16.—In Tama county, Saturday, Wm. Taylor shot and killed Perry Wheaton, they having quarreled over the fact that Wheaton's dog had chased Taylor's cattle from the former's hay field. This is the fourth murder in this county within thirteen months.

JOTTINGS.
It stormed furiously last night.
The frosty nights have injured the potato crops hereabout.
The Methodist social was well attended last evening and everyone had a good time.
Frank Rabel, fair, fat and of unknown antiquity, came down from Truckee this morning.
The Democratic primaries will be held to-morrow. The polling place will be at the opera-house.
Peavine is looking up. An assaying outfit for Captain Griffin was carried out from Reno this afternoon.
Rev. Mr. Carver, of Salt Lake, who has been stopping in Reno the past few weeks, will go to San Francisco this evening.
In the Justice's Court this morning the suit of B. Isaacs to recover from L. Abrahams $750, wages due, was dismissed.
The jury in the case of Merrill vs. John Dixon Sr. and John Dixon Jr. yesterday returned a verdict for defendants for 150 cords of wood at $1 per cord.
Charles Lewis, the absconding bar-keeper, was arrested at Blackworth and brought back last evening. He had spent only $7 out of the $248 which he stole.
The District Court opened this morning but to adjourn, the lawyers in the cases called being mostly absent at Eureka. Adjourned to ten o'clock a. m. tomorrow.
The news has been received from San Francisco that Red Frank Wheeler, so far from being in a dying condition, is in better health than he has been for some time past.
When the tipsy voter catches the candidate by the wrist with one hand and the elbow with the other, the expression upon that candidate's face as he bids farewell to the world for several hours is awful to see.

Mourful Reflections.
"Talk about getting wiser and better with age," said a leading citizen in a Virginia-street saloon last night as he placed his hand on the side of the glass next the gloomy barkeeper, "that's all infernal nonsense. Why, when I was a boy of seventeen you couldn't get me to drink or swear, and I'd have cut my tongue out rather than talk a lie. I was ambitious and industrious and respected myself and had principles and lived up to them. I respected good women and liked to be in their company and put my leisure time in reading and other decent and rational amusements. Now, here I am at forty-five and what am I? A leading citizen of Reno and a candidate for county—subject to the decision of the Democratic convention."

The gentleman sighed heavily and drank down his whisky.
Mr. Duck still lingers. There has not been any decided change in his State since last evening. While it would be going too far to hope for his recovery upon the principle that while there is life there is hope, it is just possible that if he lives for a day or two, an alteration for the better may take place. This is what the doctors say, although it is far more probable that he will not live through the night.

AN OLD TIMER.

The Original Locator of the Ophir and Gould & Curry in Reno.

One of the residents of Reno is Mr. Gould, the original locator of the Gould & Curry mine. It is nineteen years since he made his way over the Sierra on muleback and began hunting for what he could find in the way of gold and silver. He was one of that old party now nearly all passed away who formed the little mining camp which is now Virginia City. There were James Finney, better known as "Old Virginia," Pat McLaughlin, Bill Knight, John Harrold, Henry Comstock, John Vignot, Sandy Bowers, Joe Plato, Jack Berry, Ed. Paine, John Bishop, Alec and Bill Henderson, Jack Younst and Jim Rogers. Gould and Bishop are the only two now known of left of that little band. They were working on surface diggings in Gold Hill and then in Virginia. Gould was one of the men working his claim on what is B street, Virginia. The boys were all for gold and throwing away what they thought to be the useless black stuff in which they found the dust. Judge Walsh happened along, was curious about the black stuff, took means to find out what it was and made the grand discovery that the miners were casting away what they thought dirt, but what were really sulphurets of silver. Then there was an excitement. Gould claims that he took the first load of silver ore from the Ophir, and packed it on his own mules. He feels that he deserves even more than Comstock the credit of being the original silver Jacobs. It didn't profit him, however, for he was frozen out by the others and started again on his wanderings. Up to within the past few years he continued to spend his life in prospecting among the mountains. There his health broke down and dire poverty fell upon him. He is now an old man and working on Plaza street, not a stone's throw from the GAZETTE office, as assistant in a little fruit store. But the old man's spirit isn't broken yet. His eye is as clear as it ever was, and although his hair is white and his tall form a little bent, his complexion is fresh, and his muscles strong. He wants to prospect some more, and he has one or two good ledges that he would like to develop, "but," as he very justly, and with a certain peevishness observes, "a man can't work a mine without money, can he?" He doesn't like to visit Virginia. They don't care about seeing there, he says, and he doesn't love the bonanza firm, either. "I haven't time to talk to you, sir, was the reception he got from John Mackay, when that genial millionaire was standing on Ophir ground. Mr. Gould applied to the last legislature for aid. He thought he was entitled to some consideration from the State for discovering the mines that have made it. But the lawmakers feared that other early workers of the Comstock might put in a similar claim if his were allowed. The fear was not well grounded as the poor old boys are all dead, it seems, save Gould and Bishop, as has been said, "The men that have the Comstock," said the old man recurring to Mackey's treatment of him "want everything for nothing. If they had to make tunnels through the snow to get grub and had to run the risk of freezing or starving now and then, they wouldn't be so damned greedy." Then a customer came in and the old prospector bustled around and sold two bits worth of grapes.

There was a bad runaway at the race track this morning. W. R. Chamberlain's three-year-old colt has been under training there under the supervision of Tom Norcross. The driver this morning when in front of the grand stand thoughtlessly got out of the sulky and left the spirited animal unhitched. The colt dashed off, passed out of the fair grounds and made about half way to town before he brought up. There was nothing left of the sulky and the animal's hind leg was so badly cut that he will not be able to enter for the races. The driver of Sheriff Lamb's horse, Washoe, leaped from his wagon as the colt came tearing down towards the gate, but without other result than to give Washoe a chance to runaway too. He did, and smashed the wagon to smithereens, but did not hurt himself.

A Pious Lunch.
Admirers of the red man—who generally are those who never have had the pleasure of his odorous acquaintance—should see a group of Piute bucks and squaws hanging around a Reno butcher shop while a beef is being dressed, and scrambling on all fours in the dirt of the street for the offal that is thrown away.

A Boy's Leg Broken.
This forenoon during recess at the public school, two boys named Gordon Rice and Eddie Northrop, about fifteen years of age, got wrestling and in the rough fun Eddie was thrown and had his leg broken below the knee. Dr. Dawson set the injured limb. Mr. Rice, the father of Gordon, has very generously offered to pay all the expenses resulting from the accident.

Off for Pitt River.
The Jess Brothers, of Truckee meadows started with six vaqueros this morning for Pitt River for the purpose of driving in 1500 head of beef cattle. A wagon carrying the camp fixings for the 200 mile ride accompanied the party.

Thrown From a Buggy.
Mrs. Harris, the mother of Mrs. Wm. Boardman, was thrown from her carriage on Fourth near Sierra street and jarred pretty badly about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The horse had become frightened and dashed off suddenly.

Origin of the Name Truckee.
The Reno correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin thus explains how the Truckee came to bear its name: "The Truckee river has little to thank the white man for. Before his time its water swarmed with fish which suffered no devastation from the red man. Its course was free from restraint. If the tide was swollen by floods of rain or melting snows, it roared the louder and ran the faster, until it was eased. It rejoiced in the beauty of nature unmarred and grandeur unadorned. But the sun of civilization arose, and its freedom was lost. It suffered first in its ugly name, which sickened the fish and consigned it to a dreary doom. Anything known by such a homely word as that might be useful, but it could not be lovable, and people who lived on the Ohio and Hudson, whose syllables fall from the tongue like the notes of a piano, have no time for the Truckee. The sentiment which connected the two was prettier than either of them, as is the case when love unites a homely couple. A party of sixteen men, who left Combe Bluffs in 1844 for Oregon, fell in at Battle Mountain with a faithful Piute of that name, who guided them safely to Sutter's fort. He went to Mexico with Fremont and disappeared. Through gratitude to this poor Indian his name was given to the river of which he frequently told them before they reached it."

State Convention.
A dispatch received at the GAZETTE office this afternoon states that no nominations would be made to-day by the State convention, that the general talk is that Kinkead is the coming man and that Daggett can have the nomination for Congress if he wants it. It is also certain that Washoe county will be represented on the ticket.

Constable Wilson last night brought up from Wadsworth one George Smith, convicted of disturbing the peace and sentenced to six months in the county jail. Smith has been a drunken nuisance in Wadsworth.

Jewell Allowed to Jump.

J. R. Jewell, the man accused of having tampered with a little girl on the stairs of the Odd Fellows' building some days ago has skipped. The case against him was not, legally considered, a strong one, and it was feared that it would be impossible to get evidence enough against him to convict. Last night he was brought before Judge Richardson and, in accordance with a previous understanding, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault. He was given until this morning to appear for sentence, being allowed to go on his own recognizance. This, of course, meant that he had just that length of time to get out of town. The man was just scared to death. He was horribly afraid that he would be lynched and he had not the courage to leave the court-room without the company of an officer. The last seen of him he was making tracks across the V. & T. bridge and he is probably in Virginia by this time.

There was a bad runaway at the race track this morning. W. R. Chamberlain's three-year-old colt has been under training there under the supervision of Tom Norcross. The driver this morning when in front of the grand stand thoughtlessly got out of the sulky and left the spirited animal unhitched. A Pious Lunch.

Admirers of the red man—who generally are those who never have had the pleasure of his odorous acquaintance—should see a group of Piute bucks and squaws hanging around a Reno butcher shop while a beef is being dressed, and scrambling on all fours in the dirt of the street for the offal that is thrown away.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup.

HYPOPHOSPHITES.

THIS DISCOVERY

Is the result of a series of Scientific Experiments based upon the fact that the successful cure of Wasting Diseases, the nervous system must be made vigorous and healthy. One of the first symptoms of disease affecting either the Liver, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, or Central Organs, is a loss of nervous power. This is followed by muscular relaxation, weakness, and emaciation of all the organs which depend upon them for health or involuntary muscular action, the weaker suffering first. The inventor, acting upon this fact, that the muscles and nerves depend upon each other for efficient strength and action, and that they must be treated directly in order to speedily and permanently cure diseases of the organs which they control, became convinced, after months of experiment, that no other preparation produced such potent and direct effects upon the nervous system as his.

Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites

and except in cases of actual organic loss, that it would restore patients suffering from those maladies. Amongst the diseases overcome by the use of this remedy are the following:

- Chronic Constipation,
- Chronic Dyspepsia,
- Asthma,
- Chronic Bronchitis,
- Consumption,
- Chronic Diarrhoea,
- Chronic Laryngitis,
- Melancholy,
- Nervous Debility.

Debility, resulting from Typhoid and other low fevers, Diptheritic Prostration, Syphilis, Hypochondria, Nervous Excitability, Marasmus or Wasting of the Muscles, Aphonia or Loss of Voice, the Emaciation, the Interruption and Feeble Action of the Heart, Spasmodic Fibrillations caused by mucous obstruction of the Lungs and Air Passages leading thereto, and Debility from various causes, indigestion and habitual constipation almost always arise from weakness of the muscles and nerves of the stomach and bowels. In such cases, FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has proved itself the greatest service by inducing healthy peristaltic action of the intestines. The emaciation, nervousness, and debility, which are the result of the depletion of the blood, and inward waste may be cured by attention to the regular described doses, and by due regard to the habits of life.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites

The power of arresting diseases displayed by this preparation is honestly and unreservedly acknowledged by the medical faculty in every section where it has been introduced, and the large sale is the best guarantee of its estimation in which it is held by the public.

This syrup will cure PULMONARY CONSUMPTION in the first and second stages, will give great relief and prolong life in the third. It will cure ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, and COUGHS. It will cure all diseases originating from want of MUSCULAR ACTION and NERVOUS FORCE.

SIMMOND'S NABOB WHISKY.

A GREAT REMEDY.

FOR ALL

Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Nervousness.

THE PUREST and Best Medicinal and Family Purposes.

HAS BEEN SOLD IN ALL THE EASTERN STATES AND GIVEN UNIVERSAL satisfaction. It is highly recommended by the Faculty for all cases of Nervousness, Weakness, Debility, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, &c.

Dyspepsia is called the national disease of this country, and many reasons why have been given. It is frequently said that people work too much, eat too fast, sleep too little, take the smoke too much tobacco, give way to too much excitement, and consequently play themselves out in the shortest possible time. "A short life and a merry one" seems to be the sentiment that chiefly influences a large number of persons, but for all that no person feels at ease when entering in health. Now, however, much or little truth should be attached to the opinion of physicians who charge the great prevalence of dyspepsia and nervousness to any of the causes mentioned, it cannot be denied that there are some applications received by druggists throughout the country for medicines to relieve and cure stomach and nervous pains and disorders, and all other maladies that afflict frail humanity. As might be expected under these circumstances, a large number of specific to successfully counteract these diseases have been introduced to the attention of the public, but nearly all of them have failed to do any good. Whenever, therefore, any alleged new remedial agent is spoken of, very little confidence is felt in it by reason of numerous past disappointments, so that people who are chronic sufferers from dyspepsia, indigestion, physical weakness, or nervousness almost despair of being cured. They, however, take too despondent a view of the matter, for those who have used the celebrated NABOB WHISKY, which can be had from all respectable druggists and grocers, know by experience that it is a sure remedy for all the maladies referred to, and that its tonic properties are of the most strengthening character. Many persons who found it impossible to properly digest a single meal, and whose physique had been sadly attenuated, have derived immediate benefit from the NABOB WHISKY, and in a short time, by its regular use, regained all their health and strength. It can be taken with impunity, no drugs are incorporated with it, and its healthy action on the human system is at once felt. The effect which it produces on the organs of the stomach is such as to create a vigorous appetite and render, no matter what the habit of the sufferer may be, and if it is taken at the same time steadies the nerves and stimulates the brain. There are no delusions claim for the great remedial agent, so that all persons who are troubled with dyspepsia or nervousness would be wise to themselves if they failed to test its curative qualities. Its sale is rapidly on the increase, and the better it is known the more it is used.

Now, however, much or little truth should be attached to the opinion of physicians who charge the great prevalence of dyspepsia and nervousness to any of the causes mentioned, it cannot be denied that there are some applications received by druggists throughout the country for medicines to relieve and cure stomach and nervous pains and disorders, and all other maladies that afflict frail humanity. As might be expected under these circumstances, a large number of specific to successfully counteract these diseases have been introduced to the attention of the public, but nearly all of them have failed to do any good. Whenever, therefore, any alleged new remedial agent is spoken of, very little confidence is felt in it by reason of numerous past disappointments, so that people who are chronic sufferers from dyspepsia, indigestion, physical weakness, or nervousness almost despair of being cured. They, however, take too despondent a view of the matter, for those who have used the celebrated NABOB WHISKY, which can be had from all respectable druggists and grocers, know by experience that it is a sure remedy for all the maladies referred to, and that its tonic properties are of the most strengthening character. Many persons who found it impossible to properly digest a single meal, and whose physique had been sadly attenuated, have derived immediate benefit from the NABOB WHISKY, and in a short time, by its regular use, regained all their health and strength. It can be taken with impunity, no drugs are incorporated with it, and its healthy action on the human system is at once felt. The effect which it produces on the organs of the stomach is such as to create a vigorous appetite and render, no matter what the habit of the sufferer may be, and if it is taken at the same time steadies the nerves and stimulates the brain. There are no delusions claim for the great remedial agent, so that all persons who are troubled with dyspepsia or nervousness would be wise to themselves if they failed to test its curative qualities. Its sale is rapidly on the increase, and the better it is known the more it is used.
